Advancing the Open Access Agenda with Library Support of Open Access Journals

Presentation by Marilyn S Billings
Scholarly Communication Librarian

ACRL New England Scholarly Communication SIG, December 07, 2017
Today’s Outline

• Introduction and Context
• Scholarly Communication: New Roles
• Open Access Journals
• Lessons Learned / Challenges
• Progress
• Future Efforts
Scholarly Communication: Alternative Models

- Institutional Repositories
  - Unified open access to and preservation of the electronic collections of works of members of the institution’s community

- Open Access Journals
  - Available at no cost to end user, without financial or legal barriers
  - Remove most license barriers
  - Subsidized by institutions, societies, author fees (APCs)

- Open Educational Resources
  - Freely accessible, openly licensed documents and media that are useful for teaching, learning, and assessing as well as for research purposes

- Open Data / Open Research
  - Central theme is to make clear accounts of the methodology freely available via the internet, along with any data or results extracted or derived from them
ScholarWorks@UMass Amherst is a digital showcase of the research and scholarly output of members of the University of Massachusetts Amherst community. The ScholarWorks repository is administered by the UMass Amherst Libraries and serves as a permanent digital archive for these scholarly materials. (more).
Exploration of Alternative Models: Opportunities

• Creation of new types of content and formats
• Wide dissemination of scholarship
• Visibility and citation impact factor at journal and article levels
• Use, re-use, and re-purposing of scholarly materials, all at no cost to end user
• Digitally archive work with permanent url or DOI
• Rights management of content
  – Use of addendum for publisher journals
  – Use of Creative Commons licenses
• Maintain faculty roles as authors, peer reviewers, editors
Exploration of Alternative Models: Challenges

• Perception issues
  – Quality and impact of OA journals

• Copyright issues
  – Author rights
  – Licenses / Ownership
  – Publisher contracts

• Editorial issues

• Marketing

• Publication and distribution
Scholarly Communication: Library Roles

• Nexus of communication for campus
• Library role as steward of scholarship
• Collect, preserve, and disseminate digital material
• Organize, provide access to information
• Expanded liaison role with faculty
• Copyright, fair use, author rights, Creative Commons
• Information and digital fluency
• Research data management services
Scholarly Communication

What is "Scholarly Communication"? Scholarly Communication is a term used to describe the ways that academics, researchers, scholars, and teachers share information, through publications and teaching. We offer numerous services relating to open access, including information programming and consultations.

Services

Some examples of the services we provide:

- Copyright & Publishing Contracts - We offer support for issues surrounding author’s rights, fair use of included materials, and licensing and assignment of your research and publications.
- Open Access - We can answer your questions about Open Access and the university’s Open Access Policy. We also maintain the Supporting Open Access and Research (SOAR) Fund to support Open Access scholarship on campus.
- Open Educational Resources (OERs) & Teaching Materials - We support the development of OERs, by providing grants for development of OERs, as well as coordinating the development of resources with subject / liaison librarians.
- Publishing Services - We publish a variety of conferences, journals, workshops, and monographs through ScholarWorks as well.
- Theses and Dissertations - The Libraries are embarking on an ambitious, multi-year project to digitize all of the University of Massachusetts Amherst’s dissertations and theses. Visit ScholarWorks to see current and past theses and dissertations. See the Digitization Notice Board for a list of works currently being digitized.
- ScholarWorks - ScholarWorks provides access to and preserves your research and scholarship. We host articles and papers, datasets, teaching materials, presentations, and other work created by members of the UMass Amherst community. Faculty and campus researchers and authors are invited to create individual ScholarWorks pages to highlight their own work. Campus departments and units can also create their own pages to highlight the work of their unit or affiliates.

Open Access Policy

University of Massachusetts Amherst Policy for Open Access to Faculty Publications

Policy endorsed by the Faculty Senate on April 7, 2016 and became effective July 1, 2016

The Faculty of the University of Massachusetts Amherst (hereafter "the University") is committed to disseminating the fruits of its research and scholarship as widely as possible. In keeping with that commitment, the Faculty adopts the following policy: Each Faculty member grants to the University permission to make available his or her scholarly articles and to exercise the copyright in those articles. More specifically, each Faculty member grants to the University a nonexclusive, irrevocable, worldwide license to exercise any and all rights under copyright relating to each of his or her scholarly articles, in any medium, provided that the articles are not sold for a profit, and to authorize others to do the same. The policy applies to all scholarly articles authored or co-authored while the person is a member of the Faculty except for any articles completed before the adoption of this policy and any articles for which the Faculty member entered into an incompatible licensing or assignment agreement before the adoption of this policy. The University will waive application of the license for a particular article, or delay access for a specified period of time, upon express direction by a Faculty member. Each Faculty member will provide an electronic copy of the author's final version (or better version, if possible) of each article no later than the date of its publication at no charge to the appropriate representative of the University in an appropriate format (such as PDF) specified by the University. The University may make the article available to the public in an open access repository. The Office of the Provost will be responsible for interpreting this policy, resolving disputes concerning its interpretation and application, and recommending changes to the Faculty from time to time. In implementing this policy the University will strive for simplicity and minimal burden on the Faculty, using appropriate technology to ease the participation of the Faculty. The policy will be reviewed by the Provost (or designee) after three years and a report presented to the Faculty Senate.

Supporting Open Access Research Fund

SOAR Fund

The UMass SOAR ("Supporting Open Access Research") Fund supports open access publication of University of Massachusetts Amherst peer-reviewed scholarship. A pilot program of $25,000 is available to support researchers on a first-come, first-serve basis. To apply for funds, contact Erin Jerome at ewjerome@library.umass.edu.

The SOAR Fund is compatible with the Compact for Open-Access Publishing Equity (COAPE).

communication +1 provides an open forum for exploring and sharing ideas about communication across modes of inquiry and perspectives. Its primary objective is to push the theoretical frontiers of communication as an autonomous and distinct field of research. Suspending any judgment regarding distinction between theory and practice, this forum encourages critical reflections on communication and seeks to encourage these reflections to and among those who place communication at the center of their thinking and writing.

SPECIAL ISSUES:
Journal of Medicinally Active Plants

The Journal of Medicinally Active Plants is a peer-reviewed, interdisciplinary, on-line professional journal sponsored by the American Council for Medicinally Active Plants. The Journal publishes scientific manuscripts related to the analysis, application, bioactivity, collection, conservation, cultivation, growth, harvest, identification, physiology, processing, and other issues related to medicinally active plant material. Investigators working with these plant materials are invited to submit articles for publication. Guidelines for publication are here.

The objective of this quarterly publication is to facilitate scholarly exchange among those studying and/or interested in medicinally active plants and the development of new medicines and medical treatments with a botanical basis.
Transforming Library Roles

• Demonstrate value across the institution
  – Use formal assessment
  – Engage in online learning

• Collaborate with teaching and research faculty

• Become more student-centered, patron experience

• Embrace role as educators

• Maximize impact on student learning and success

• Provide education and workshops
Issues of Diversity in Publication

What’s next? What’s the goal?

• Focus on quality and high impact in scholarly publishing
• Expand library publishing service components, best practices, and partnerships
• Transform academic culture so that libraries become principal publishers of scholarly work
• Move toward open licensing for library-created content
  – Anita Walz (librarian at VA Tech)
• Sign on to the OA2020 initiative
  – Goal: to convert journals from subscription to OA by re-directing subscription funds to OA funds and to finance essential services
Thanks!
